A. L. I. DEFEATS COMPANY G.

The Alexandria Light Infantry defeated Company G, District of Columbia National Guards, here Saturday night in a sensational basketball game by the close margin of 1 point, the score being 23 to 22. The game was of the hair-raising variety from start to finish, first one team and then the other taking the lead by a point or two, and was in doubt until the last second of play. A dispute arose over a basket tossed by one of the local players just as the whistle blew for the end of the second half. The visiting players claimed that the toss was made after the whistle had blown, but the referee ruled otherwise. The line-up:

| A. L. I.   | Positions. | Company G. |
|--|------------|------------|
| Dobson   | C.         | Goucher    |
| Guines   | G.         | McDonald   |

| Hoy  | C.         | Evans      |
| Goals from field—Dobson 3, Diesel 3, McBride 3, Hoy, Dingle, Goucher 2, McDonald 1, Herbert, Cavillier 3. Free tosses—Dobson 2, McDonald 1. Referee—Mr. Westlake. Umpire—Mr. Rice. |            |            |

The next league game will be between the A. L. I. and Old Dominion quins Tuesday night at Armory Hall.

Mr. Stone was a quiet and respected citizen, and his death is regretted by all who knew him. The circumstances in connection with his fatal injury are unknown. Mr. W. F. Malin, who plays the character part, has made a special study of this dual role and uses the same version as played by the late Richard Mansfield with phenomenal success. Elaborate preparations have been made for this production, which promises to be a record-maker in point of attendance.

Wednesday, February 2, will be Ground Hog Day on which day it is held by many the ground hog emerges from his hole in the ground and forecasts the weather. Why not look on all sides of a question? This is about the price of beef in the direct fault of the retailer is about as one-sided an answer to an all-sided question as we have ever experienced. Now just listen to our side of it (the retailers): Statistics show us that in no other beef in this country now than ever before. The best of it we never get because it is shipped to Europe. There's no import tax on beef but no export tax. This looks to us like a case of all going out and nothing coming in. And we, the poor consumer and the poor retailer, are the ones who pay the bill. Is the big man who makes the beef and sends it to Europe to take the tariff of the meat coming in and put on the meat going out and all our meat troubles will be settled. But will it ever happen? Well, hardly ever. Say it doesn't happen. The Anti-Sand and The Anti Market.

Virginia News.

At the request of Governor-elect Mann Adjutant General Charles J. Anderson has consented to remain in office until after the adjournment of the general assembly, when Senator W. W. Sale will assume the office.

It is unlawful to hunt game in Virginia while the snow is on the ground, and a heavy fine is imposed for a violation of this law. Farmers in many places, while the snow was on the ground, fed partridges and other birds from their barns and granaries.

Luther E. Flickinger, assistant superintendent of the delivery of mails at the Norfolk postoffice, was arrested Saturday night charged with robbing the mails. Flickinger was caught by Postoffice Inspectors Robertson and Saffel while extracting $4 from a letter which had been mailed as a decoy.

In the opinion of State Senator W. W. Sale, of Norfolk, the Virginia Anti-Slavery League's enabling act, the object of which is the calling a state-wide prohibition election in Virginia, is doomed to defeat if introduced in the present session of the general assembly.

One of the trucks of a northbound freight train on the Southern Railway jumped the track Friday morning at Oaseys, several miles below Lynchburg, and ran for a mile on the ties. At the McWane Pipe Foundry the derailed truck struck the switch of a spur track and bounded back on the track. This is regarded as one of the most unusual freaks of the kind known in that section.

Rev. A. N. Perryman was installed as pastor of the Ocotillo Presbyterian church, at Waterford, by the following commission of the Oneaspoke Presbytery: H. M. Moffatt, of Leesburg; R. S. Lee, of Marshall; and Messrs. S. E. Simpson, of Pasaden Springs; and J. T. McGavack, of Waterford. Rev. J. R. Sevier, of Alexandria, was prevented from being present by reason of illness.

After the inauguration of Gov. Mann tomorrow, Gov. and Mrs. Swanson will leave that afternoon or Wednesday morning for Washington, where they will spend a few days. Then they will start for a trip to the Pacific coast, to be absent from Virginia for several weeks. They will visit a number of places, and will take a long rest at one of the resorts along the southern California coast. When they return to Virginia they will go to their country home at Otham, where the governor will take up his law practice and farming, but he will keep an eye on the political situation.

England's Labor Exchange System. London, Jan. 31.—England's new system of labor exchanges, by which it is hoped greatly to ameliorate the country's menacing problem of unemployment, were put in operation today for the first time.

Exchanges were opened in various places throughout England and so much is expected of them that the press generally refers to the movement as an epoch in England's industrial life.

Exchanges will try to bring the job and the jobseeker together. Every exchange is provided with a record, prepared with unusual care, of the firms and industrial plants in England where employees are needed, and also, of the number and location of the unemployed in England, with their peculiar fitness for certain kinds of employment.

The scheme marks the first organized scientific attempt in England to solve the question of providing work for the thousands who are idle. The exchanges are counted on to save the unemployed the expense of searching for work where it is already known that no work exists. The exchanges will pay the cost of transportation to the field of employment.

The Country's Prosperous Year.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 31.—That the United States is facing a prosperous and successful year, confident in President Taft's integrity, is the prediction today of Col. Frederick K. Farnsworth, secretary of the American Bankers' Association, who is here on a visit.

"Banks at the present time are not burdened with a surplus of money," he said. "That is a good indication, as it shows that money is having an outlet in large interests that are in splendid condition."

"Among financiers there is a feeling of implicit confidence in President Taft. While he has made some statements recently as to his feeling about trusts and corporation interests there is a belief in his integrity. Whatever he does will be done in a way that won't affect the best interests of the country at large."

"Opposition to the postal banking system is based on the belief that the government has no right to go into the banking business."

Chief Ruus Amuck.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 31.—Joseph Clark, a colored chef at Alncocks, a prominent restaurant here, armed with a carving knife ran amuck in that place at midnight and cleared the restaurant of guests in about one minute. Gans, a waiter, is said to have started the trouble by going back to the kitchen for an order and having words with the chef over it. The latter picked up his knife and Gans beat it. Clark followed him, brandishing the knife and making frequent lunges at him. Tables were upset and the guests were thrown into confusion, and thinking that the negro had suddenly gone insane they hastily left the place. Outside the restaurant Clark was arrested by a policeman before he could use his knife.

Versi Wrecked.

Lieboon, Jan. 31.—The sailing vessel Fortuna has been wrecked on the Azores with the loss of ten of her crew of fifteen, according to messages reaching here today. The Fortuna went down in the storm that for two days has swept the northern part of Portugal and the ocean between here and the Azores.

The five who escaped from the vessel were finally picked up after enduring terrible suffering.

Communication with the northern part of Portugal is cut off. Many villages are isolated and enormous loss in property and probably a heavy death list have been inflicted.

Sixty-first Congress.

(Second Session.)

Washington, Jan. 31.

SENATE.

The administration statehood bill, as approved by the president, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Dillingham, acting for Senator Beveridge. He gave notice that it would be pressed for consideration immediately after the return of Mr. Beveridge.

The army appropriation bill, carrying approximately $95,000,000, was reported to the Senate by Senator Warren.

Mr. Warren said the bill was $6,000,000 less than last year's, and could not exceed $96,000,000, nor fall below $95,000,000. He said this reduction was making effective the general request for economy in expenditures and he hoped all other appropriation bills would be equally successful in that respect.

The bill to establish a system of postal savings banks was temporarily taken up to the Senate.

Senator Bailey wanted it distinctly understood that it was not made the unfinished business, thereby indicating that his opposition would be strenuous.

Senator Carter explained the provisions of the postal savings bank bill in detail and at length.

HOUSE.

A bill by Mr. Payne which provides for exemption from all taxation by state, local or municipal authorities any certificates of indebtedness heretofore issued by the United States, brought out a storm in the House today.

It was explained by Mr. Payne that the treasury is ready to issue bonds. The present law, he said, is faulty on account of a mistake made in the original Payne bill.

"If you exempt these certificates from taxation you would remove the objection to the income tax amendment urged by Gov. Hughes," said Mr. Harrison (Dem. N. Y.).

"Why not help the poor and hungry too, as well as the holders of bonds?" asked Mr. Fitzgerald, "while you are patching up the Payne bill. I hear that Representative Foelker is to put in a resolution putting men products on the free list. Will you accept an amendment to this resolution putting meats on the free list?"

"I would say no—a thousand times no," shouted Mr. Payne, "because it would open up the whole tariff question and business would be paralyzed—business that has gone forward by leaps and bounds since the bill was signed by the president."

Mr. Underwood (Dem. Ala.) said he was sorry that the Payne bill cannot raise enough money to carry on the government, but that the democrats ought to help the republicans raise the money since the government hasn't enough. "If we can't sell these bonds without exempting them from taxation," he said, "I suppose we'll have to help them."

Charging that the house committee on public lands is not in sympathy with President Taft's conservation recommendations Mr. Mann, today served notice that he will prevent the public lands committee from pocketing the bills.

"I understand that the president's bill have not even been introduced in the House because no one on the public lands committee would father them," said Mr. Mann.

A resolution was finally passed putting the President's recommendations in the hands of the public land committee. Mr. Mann says that his water power bill will be reported soon for action by the House.

The House today considered the agricultural appropriation bill.

The grand jury in New York this afternoon returned indictments against Bessie Roberts and May Williams, charging them with working the "railway" game on Robert Warner N. Van Norden, and robbing him of $28,000 which he carried in a wallet in his hip pocket.
